DIVORCE DONE DIFFERENTLY

PROFILE

I am passionate about doing things differently in the family law space. My hope is to get parties and professionals working together and to look at separation and divorce in a more respectful and family focussed way.

AM I QUALIFIED FOR THE JOB?

Before stepping away from traditional legal practice, I was an Accredited Specialist in Family Law. I hold a Masters in Law from the University of Sydney, I am a Nationally Accredited Mediator, Family Dispute Resolution Practitioner, Conflict Coach, Parenting Coordinator and Collaborative Professional.

I have over 18 years of family law experience, much of this at one of Sydney's most respected family law firms. Realising I wanted to practice outside of court and in a more humane way, I stepped away from practising law and established a boutique dispute resolution business, Divorce Done Differently.

I am now a faculty member of the International Association of Collaborative Professionals, Vice President of Collaborative Professionals NSW and founder and President of Southern Sydney Collaborative Professionals.

Watch this space as I am currently writing a divorce book for children, everything they want to know about their parents divorce but are too afraid to ask.
